Today's Predicted Class Day

Today is predicted to be a class 2 for Coos, Grafton and Carroll Counties and a class 1 for the rest of the state.

It will be partly cloudy in the north to mostly cloudy with a chance of showers in the south today. Humidity values will be moderate in the north and moderate to high in the south. Winds will remain light. Unsettled conditions are expected to last into Monday but precipitation amounts are expected to remain light.

Safety comes first...on every fire...every time!
